

The Middle East Turmoil and Japanese Response

—For a Sustainable Regional Peacekeeping System—

Edited by Hitoshi Suzuki

The Middle East Turmoil and Japanese Response

—For a Sustainable Regional Peacekeeping System—

Edited by Hitoshi Suzuki

Published by:

Institute of Developing Economies

Japan External Trade Organization

3-2-2, Wakaba, Mihama-ku,

Chiba-shi, Chiba 261-8545, Japan

Fax: +81-43-299-9726

© 2013 Institute of Developing Economies, Japan External Trade Organization

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without the prior permission of the copyright owner.

The opinions expressed in this publication are the responsibility of the authors and not of their organizations.

Printed in Japan by XXX

Acknowledgements

We wish to thank the contributors for preparing each chapter for this report in such limited time. We would likewise like to acknowledge the Research Planning Department and the Research Coordination Office of IDE-JETRO for their help in arranging translations and related editing services for the English publication of this report. President Takashi Shiraishi's scholarly comments were especially helpful. We also thank several unnamed colleagues inside and outside of our Institute whose support both made this publication possible and improved its contents. We hope that this publication will contribute to a deepening of the discussions about the future of Japanese policy making for the sake of realizing a sustainable peacekeeping system among Middle Eastern countries.

Contents

Introduction

Hitoshi Suzuki

Part I. Regional Overview

Chapter 1 Rulers, Regimes, and Regions: the Prospects for Democracy in the Arab World

Lisa Anderson

Chapter 2 The Armies in the ‘Arab Spring’: Some Thoughts on the Civil-Military Relations

Akifumi Ikeda

Chapter 3 Trajectories and Junctures in the Arab Regimes’ Responses to the Arab uprisings

Satoshi Ikeuchi

Chapter 4 Post-Arab Spring Political Changes in the Middle East and Japan’s Response: Searching for a New Axis of the System

Hitoshi Suzuki

Chapter 5 The Arab Spring and Iran: Speculations on the Political Sequence of Pre-Islamism, Islamism and Post-Islamism

Ali Ferdowsi

Part II. Specific Issues

Chapter 6 Wahhābīs and the Development of Salafism: The nature and policy trend of Salafis

Sadashi Fukuda

Chapter 7 The Historical Dynamism of the Arab Revolutions

Eiji Nagasawa

Chapter 8 The Expectation Gap in the Egyptian Economy after the January 25th Revolution

Ichiki Tsuchiya

Chapter 9 A Proper Application of the “Arab Spring”: The Republic of Yemen

Hiroshi Sato

Chapter 10 Deciphering Syria’s Power Dynamics and Protracted Conflict

Housam Darwisheh

Chapter 11 Saudi Arabian Diplomacy during the Syrian Humanitarian Crisis: Domestic Pressure, Multilateralism, and Regional Rivalry for an Islamic State

Satoru Nakamura

Chapter 12 Contributions of, and Issues Faced by, Japanese Companies in UAE Economic Development: A Comparison with South Korea

Jun Saito

Chapter 13 South-West Asia in the new geopolitical framework -Between the “War on Terror” and “New Silk Road” strategy

Manabu Shimizu

Contributors

Lisa Anderson

President of the American University in Cairo, Egypt

Her specialty is politics on Middle East and North Africa. She holds Ph.D. in political science from Columbia University, where she also received a certificate from the Middle East Institute. She served as, an assistant professor at Harvard University, James T. Shotwell Professor of International Relations at the Columbia School of International and Public Affairs, and the director of Columbia's Middle East Institute, where she also served as dean of the faculty. Her major works: Pursuing Truth, Exercising Power: Social Science and Public Policy in the Twenty-first Century (Columbia University Press, 2003), The State and Social Transformation in Tunisia and Libya, 1830-1980 (Princeton University Press, 1986).

Akifumi Ikeda

Vice President, Toyo-Eiwa University, Yokohama, also Professor of International Politics at the Faculty of Social Sciences there

Having been working mainly on Conflicts and Conflict Resolution in the region, his major interests is in the Middle East peace process and related developments. Publications from IDE include; 'Problems of the State of Israel'(ed. 1994), 'The Middle East Peace Process and the Occupied Territories'(ed. 1990), and 'The Contemporary Israeli Politics'(ed. 1988)

Satoshi Ikeuchi

Associate Professor, Research Center for Advance Science and Technology,
The University of Tokyo

He is working on Arab politics and Islamic Political Thought. His first publication based on his doctoral studies, Gendai Arabu-no Shakai Shiso: Shumatsuron-to Isramu-shugi (Contemporary Arab Social Thought: Eschatology and Islamism), was published in 2002 and earned Osaragi Jiro Prize for Critical Works. He also earned Suntory Prize for Social Sciences and Humanities in 2009 for his book “Islam Sekai-no Ronjikata (Methods of Discussing Islam)”.

Hitoshi Suzuki

Senior Researcher, IDE-JETRO

Specializes on contemporary Iran and Afghanistan. His publication includes: Rural Cities in Contemporary Iran (2011, in Japanese), “The Shaping of Rūstā-shahrs” (2009, in English), and Handbook of Contemporary Afghanistan (ed., 2005, in Japanese). Recent interest covers social consciousness reflected in Iranian films, family relations in Iranian culture, and evolving of Pashtun identity in modern Afghanistan.

Ali Ferdowsi

Professor and Chair, Department of History and Political science, NotreDame de Namur University, United States of America

An expert of Iranian politics and culture. He obtained M.A. in Demography and Ph.D. in Sociology from University of Pennsylvania. He taught for three years as a visiting professor in Tokyo University for Foreign Studies in Japan. After working as an International Specialist for NHK for five years, he returned to the United States in 1997. His major works include “Fasih, Esma’il (1935-2009), eminent Persian Novelist,” in Encyclopedia Iranica (2011), “The ‘Emblem of the Manifestation of the Iranian Spirit’: Hafez and the Rise of the National Cult of Persian Poetry,” Iranian Studies (2008).

Sadashi Fukuda

Research Fellow, IDE-JETRO

He studied Islam, politics and tribal societies in the countries of Arabian Peninsula in early days of his academic career, and studied in Cairo, Muscat and Riyadh. He joined Institute of Developing Economies in 1994, then tackled an economic aspect of Islamic states, such as Saudi Arabia. He published books and papers mainly on the GCC countries. His recent publications are “The Social transformation and politics in Saudi Arabia”, “The Development of Islamic banking in Saudi Arabia” (both in Japanese).

Eiji Nagasawa

Professor, Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia, the University of Tokyo

He has been engaged in research of area studies of the Middle East, with a focus on socio-economic history of modern Egypt. His main works in English are Modern Egypt through Japanese Eyes, A Study on Intellectual and Socio-economic Aspects of Egyptian Nationalism, Cairo, Merit Publishing House, 2009; A Guide to Parliamentary Records in Monarchical Egypt. Tokyo: the Toyo Bunko, 2007 (co-editor).

Ichiki Tsuchiya

Research fellow, IDE-JETRO

His research interests are Egyptian economy and private sector development in the Middle East and North Africa. He is an editor of Private Sector Development in the Arab Middle East (IDE, 2010, in Japanese) and Overseas Expansion of Arab Companies (forthcoming, Iwanami Shoten, in Japanese). He is also coeditor of Egyptian Uprising: The Background of January 25th Revolution (IDE, 2012, in Japanese).

Hiroshi Sato

Director-General, Research Planning Department, IDE-JETRO

Speicalizes on Development Sociology, Area Study (Yemen, Eritrea), Japanese Development Experience. His publication includes: "Livelihood Improvement in Postwar Japan" in Gender and Development, ed. by Mayumi MURAYAMA, Mc.Millan, 2005; "Growth with equity through Livelihood Improvement Program" in "Globalization carried on Human Feet", Hirano and Sato ed. IDE Spot Survey no.27, 2003; Sociology of Development Aid (in Japanese), Sekai-shiso-sha, 2005.

Housam Darwisheh

Research fellow, IDE-JETRO

Housam is a Middle East researcher who started his research activities at the end of 2005. His research interest focuses on social movements and politics in Egypt with special reference to Islamism. Among his latest publications are "Social Movement and Democratization of Egyptian Politics: Egypt's January 25 Revolution and the Demise of Mubarak's Regime," co-edited with Takayuki Yokota in Keiko Sakai (ed.) The Middle East Political Science. 2012. Tokyo: Yuhikaku Publishing House (in Japanese); "The Dynamics of New Social Movements in the Arab World: the Case of Egypt and Tunisia," in Keiko Sakai (ed.) Reading the Arab Upheavals: The Course of People's Power, Tokyo University of Foreign Studies. 2011 (in Japanese); and "The Reconstruction of Mass Movement and Political Society in Egypt," Contemporary Philosophy, January 39 (4). 2011 (in Japanese).

Satoru Nakamura

Associate Professor, Graduate School of Intercultural Studies, Kobe University
Specializes on Security Studies in the Middle East and Saudi Arabia Politics & History. Publications include: Preventive Diplomacy in the Middle East (Coeditor with Gen Kikkawa, 2012, in Japanese), and Translation of Saudi Arabia Enters the Twenty-first Century : the Political, Foreign Policy, Economic, and Energy Dimensions (Anthony H. Cordesman, CSIS, 2003) (Supervisor of the Translation, 2012, into Japanese). His recent works cover the influence of the Arab revolutions to stability in Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf.

Jun Saito

Associate Senior Research Fellow, IDE-JETRO

He specializes on corporate finance and financial system in Gulf Countries. His publication includes: Analysis of efficiency of Bahraini banking sector (2012, in Japanese), Arab Spring and Telecommunication Industry in Qatar (2009, in Japanese), and Islamic Banking in Arab Gulf Countries (2010, in Japanese). His recent interest covers financial development in Gulf Countries.

Manabu Shimizu

Professor, Faculty of Economics, Teikyo University

Specializes in area studies on South Asia, Middle East and Central Asia with special reference to politico-economic development. His recent articles includes “Indian model of economic development under the global recession (2010 in Japanese),” and “Globalization and revolutions in the Arab world,”(2011 in Japanese). Interested at present in the influence of contemporary financial globalization on the Middle East, Islamic economies, emerging capitalism in the Middle East and regional economic reorganization in Central Asia.

